

Red Sea Trip 2006

Anyone who has been on a Red Sea trip with me in the past will be aware that I like to be a bit devious!!! This trip was no exception, the FINE system started as we left Uckfield and continued throughout the holiday until the last night.

The top reasons for getting a fine were:

Paul getting searched at the airport and enjoying it

Therese not knowing Heather was from Ireland

Kevin for NOT breaking his computer and bragging about it

Windy for sleeping through dolphins

Tim, Kevin and Alice squabbling whose shark was the biggest.

On the last evening Kevin and Tim presented their fine summary in the form of an honor as follows:

Heather - Juliet award for attention to and from Romeo

Windy - absence award as he was unwell on several days and slept off the bug he had

Dangerous - 'next time take a hint award' for not joining the winning quiz team (they had cheated and looked at the answers before hand allegedly)

Bushy - Back up award for his role in Mission Little Brother.

Therese - Lush/Drinker award for consuming a few throughout the week.

Tink - Magnus Magnusson award for quiz master extraordinaire

Alice - Christmas present award, with re-breather present to buy for a certain person

Tim - buddy award for multiple shark spotting

Rob - Sheep dog award for the way he shepherds people around

Karen - Inspiration award not only for her try dive on the Inspiration re-breather but for organising the trip

Paul - 'He done it award' for leading from behind during the Mission Little brother and ensuring Kevin got maximum fines

Kevin- Won it award, well he did get the most fines.

Total raised £90 and donated to St Wilfreds Hospice Eastbourne
